Circuit Enumeration

given topologies and components determine all unique circuits

Circuit Synthesis

given design goals and constraints determine best circuit

Circuit Equivalence

given several circuits determine if they are equivalent with respect to some property

